INTERIOR
DESIGN®

FALL
2023

head over heels!
fall market tabloid

zucchetti kos

Get into the groove! The new Todd single-lever brass mixer features vertical channeling that renders the handle an elegant miniature column, providing both visual appeal and enticing tactility. (Side note: The grooves also give a better grip!) The compact size suits any space—plus, Todd boasts environmental cred: The body and handle are fabricated of low-lead-content brass, while the low-flow operation complies with international standards. The series encompasses a full range of products for sink, tub, and shower, all offered in five finishes including brushed nickel, chrome, and a powder-coated embossed matte-black finish. Groovy. zucchettikos.it

KITCHENbath

Shea McGee
for Kohler

product Malin
recap The celebrity interior designer pulled subtle details—coining, engraving, ribbing—from Kohler's rich archives to create classics such as this vanity, which can be paired with her Ann Sacks tile for a cohesive look. kohler.com

Andrew Hays
of Cabbonet

product Montane
recap An alpine architecture project inspired the British brand founder's bespoke kitchen furniture collection, which combines rural style with a modern aesthetic and places a premium on customizability. cabbonet.com

Kelly Wearstler
for Serax

product Zuma
recap The L.A. design force teams with the Belgian brand on two new tableware collections, including these hand-stamped porcelain plates with a Bauhaus-inspired digital graphic pattern. serax.com

Philippe Starck
for Duravit

product Bento Starck Box recap Named for and inspired by the multisegmented Japanese lunch box, this acrylic infinity tub has a separate perimeter compartment to store bathing and self-care products. duravit.us